Children may have a special educational need or disability either throughout, or at any time during their school career. St Nicholas C of E Primary School SEND policy, which is available on the school webpage, is adhered to by all staff and strives to ensure that curriculum planning and assessment for children with a special educational need or disability takes account of the type and extent of the difficulty experienced by the child and is adapted appropriately to support the children in the best way the establishment can.

WHAT KIND OF SEND DOES THE SETTING PROVIDE FOR?

St Nicholas C of E Primary School accommodates for all SEND in line with the Equality Act 2010 and provision is available for all areas of need outlined in the SEND Code of Practice.

These include

- Physical or Sensory Needs
- Hearing Impairment
- Visual Impairment
- Social, Emotional & Mental Health Needs
- Cognition & Learning Needs
- Communication and Interaction Need
- Autistic Spectrum Disorders
- Dyspraxia
- Dyscalculia

St Nicholas uses a multi- agency approach to guide us in creating a personalised approach for pupils.

How does this setting identify if my child/young person needs extra help and how will it assess their needs?

At St Nicholas, we recognise the importance of the early identification of special educational needs or disabilities. There are several ways that the school may identify if a child needs help or support:

First, they may join the school already considered to have a special educational need or disability. If this is the case, professionals from previous settings will consult with the school SENCo (Mrs. Spike) and relevant teachers, providing information on how to best support the child. Standardised assessments will also be undertaken as part of their entry into the school to gain an accurate and holistic view of the child's current needs.

Secondly, as a parent you may have a concern. If this is the case, then it is advisable to make an appointment with the School's Special Educational Needs Coordinator (SENCo). During this appointment, you will have the opportunity to outline your concerns to the SENCo and the child's class teacher.

Thirdly, your child's class teacher may have concerns about the progress of your child or any difficulties they have noticed. If this is the case, an appointment will be made to see the parent of the child and discuss any concerns.

Finally, the SENCo may identify that your child has some difficulties through the tracking of children's progress across the school or observations. If your child is falling behind this may trigger a concern.

Once concerns have been raised, the child is then placed on a Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Concerns List and a graduated approach using the Access, Plan, Do, Review (APDR) cycle is followed to address the specific educational need/needs of the individual child. Initially, the SENCo will observe the child and complete standardised assessments. Having gathered this assessment evidence, the SENCo will plan alongside the class teacher and parents on how to overcome the difficulties the child is presenting with within the quality first teaching environment. This plan is then put into action for an agreed period, depending on the severity of the need. A review will then take place to identify the effectiveness of the support put into place. If the school does not see improvements in the child after the agreed length of time, the child will be placed on the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Register. This will then allow the school to consult with other professional agencies on how to best support the child and the APDR cycle will be followed again.

How will teaching approaches and the curriculum be matched to my child/young person's needs?

Class teachers plan lessons according to the specific needs of all groups of children in their class and will ensure your child's needs are met through differentiation and quality first teaching. Specific resources and strategies will be used to support children individually or in groups.

The school will have identified through a meeting with the SENCo, parents and where necessary outside agencies what the category of need is for the child with a SEND. Below, outlines the curriculum and expertise available to support each area of need.

Physical or Sensory Need: If your child has a physical or sensory need the school will be supported by outside agencies and will be advised on how to best support your child within the setting. For example, the school may call upon the expertise of physiotherapists or occupational therapists. These agencies can then advise the school and check that classrooms and other areas of the setting are accessible for all pupils. Sometimes, the school may need to purchase specialist equipment to support children with physical disabilities or may need to make adaptations to the environment. Where possible, the school promotes independence for children with physical disabilities and does not want them to become dependent on adult support.

Hearing Impairment/ Visual Impairment: The school uses advice and support from the visual and hearing impairment teams. The school can be advised on how to support children in the use and maintenance of hearing aids, where to sit children in relation to the class teacher and even what font size to use when providing written resources.

Social, Emotional, and Mental Health Needs (SEMH): The school has a range of SEMH interventions that it can use within the educational setting to support children including Starving the Anxiety Gremlin, Lego Therapy and Boxall profiles. The school also uses CAMHS and counselling services available to children by referring children if deemed necessary. If a child needs counselling this can be organised using the schools Councilor services. It will usually take place at the school. The school uses the outdoors to support children with SEMH needs using the schools outdoor learning garden and classroom. During these sessions, children build up self-esteem, responsibility, and trusted relationships with peers and adults in the school. If the school feels that domestic circumstances are causing difficulties in this area an Early Help Assessment (EHA) or further assistance for the family may be provided through safeguarding procedures. The school also has a Mental Health Policy and Mental Health Lead Practitioner (Mrs. Spike) to guide and support best practice.

Cognition and Learning Needs: The school will use a range of interventions and supportive strategies in class to provide a personalised and differentiated curriculum for these pupils. The school has Teaching Assistant's trained in several interventions which will accelerate pupils' progress and help them to catch up with peers. All teaching provision is regularly monitored by members of the SLT to ensure high quality teaching for all pupils including those with a SEND.

HOW WILL THE SETTING ADAPT THE CURRICULUM & LEARNING ENVIRONMENT TO SUPPORT PUPILS WITH A SEND NEED?

At St Nicholas, the teachers will lead and support all pupils including those with a SEND. They are accountable for the progress and achievement of these pupils. The needs of pupils with a SEND are met, where possible, in the classroom through high quality teaching and personalised differentiation. Where necessary, the child with a SEND will receive a higher level of teacher support, smaller classes additional interventions and a personalised timetable targeted to their needs. If needed, outside agency support will be sought and the school will put into place any advice given whether this be implementing strategies to support with teaching and learning or adaptations to the learning environment. The school acknowledges that the learning environment is crucial in supporting children's learning Environment provided is outstanding, supportive and accessible to all (See school's accessibility policy on the school webpage)

Every pupil with a SEND at St Nicholas will be provided with a pupil passport. This is written alongside the child and is shared and reviewed with parents each term to ensure that the provision outlined in the passport still meets the needs of the child with a SEND. A pupil passport will outline how the child wants to be supported and what strategies/resources are being provided in the classroom for the child to access mainstream education.

WHAT TRAINING IS OFFERED TO STAFF TO SUPPORT CHILDREN WITH A SEND AND SECURE

The staff receive yearly training from the SENCo and specialized services when required. If a child attends the school with a specific need, then training will be arranged to support provision and understanding of that need. The school has a SENCo. The SENCo undertakes regular SENCo training provided by the Local Authority and are experienced in teaching children with a SEND, enabling them to provide support to other teachers and develop SEND practice across the school.

The school has trained staff in specific speech and language programs and screenings.

All staff have received professional training in Children's Mental Health due to the increased prominence of this area of need within our local and wider community.

Based on the needs of the children at St Nicholas identified staff members have received professional training to enable them to support children with additional physical and medical needs such as diabetes and allergies. We also invite a nurse into the school to help write care plans for individual medical needs.

Communication and Interaction Need: The school has trained staff to conduct an Early Communication Screen to identify pupils in the Early Years and KS1 with communication and interaction difficulties. For children with a more severe communication and interaction need, support and advice from outside agencies will be sought and where necessary referrals can be made to the local authority speech and language team for an individualised care plan to be completed.

Autistic Spectrum Disorders: The school will use the expertise of outside agencies to diagnose and support pupils with an Autistic Spectrum disorder. Outside agencies will advise and support staff in providing the right environment and learning methods to overcome difficulties in this area. This provision will be outlined in a personalised provision map. The school will not label any child with autistic spectrum disorder unless diagnosed by a medical professional. If teachers or parents have a concern about ASD, the school's SENCo will support parents with a referral using Somerset ASD Pathway to assessment.

Dyscalculia/ Dyslexia: The school will use the expertise of the Advisory Support Services team to support learning needs within this area. Children with these difficulties will be able to access additional resources to support them within class and the school can offer interventions for both areas of difficulty.

ADHD/ ADD: The school will use advice given by outside agencies to support children with this difficulty. If teachers or parents have a concern about ADHD/ADD the school's SENCo will support parents with a referral using Somerset ADHD Pathway to assessment.

How will the school evaluate the effectiveness of SEN provision made for my child?

St Nicholas' SLT conduct regular lesson observations and learning walks to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of SEND provision across the school. Every term, the SENCo will also check the progress of pupils with a SEND by looking at school progress data, intervention data (where applicable) and discussions with class teachers. This will then be shared with parents as part of a review meeting. This meeting will take place every term and will give parents chance to ask questions about how they can further support their child at home. During the meeting, each child's pupil passport will be updated so parents and the school SENCo can share the child's next steps and discuss how the school plan to support their child to achieve these during the following term.

Parent Evening meetings are also held where children's attainment and progress are discussed with the class teacher.

Children with an EHCP will have an annual review where targets and progress against these targets are discussed and reviewed with parents and professionals. Prior to this meeting your child, can share their views on their own progress, what is working well and what they might like to change to help them further.

What support will there be for my child's/young person's overall wellbeing?

The school uses small class sizes to allow staff and pupils to build strong, nurturing relationships. Regular observations of teaching check that nurturing environments are strong in all classrooms.

The school promotes pupil voice and will ensure that all children with a SEND take part in setting their own targets and discussing how they want to be supported with the class teacher.

A broad curriculum is also delivered that aims to provide pupils with the knowledge, understanding and skills they need to enhance and develop their emotional and social wellbeing; with a particular focus on this during the teaching of RSE. All pupils are also supported to access weekly Physical Education and swimming sessions that are led by qualified instructors.

The school also follows a clear behaviour policy (which can be found on the school website) and behavioral expectations are promoted and adopted throughout the school through the schools Christian Values, Rights Respecting Articles and our Secrets to Success Skills. These are taught in assemblies, embedded in classroom expectations, and is displayed within the learning environment. The principles support children to promote a cheerful outlook to themselves, others and their environment and prevent negative attitudes or bullying. All school staff are also available at all times of the day to monitor attitudes and behaviour as well as to discuss and support with any concerns from children and parents.

What specialist services and expertise are available at or accessed by the setting?

HOW WILL MY CHILD / YOUNG PERSON BE INCLUDED IN ALL ACTIVITIES?

We are a fully inclusive school and children join in with all activities with reasonable adjustments put into place to support their needs.

For example, this might mean that an additional member of staff or resource is put into place or that the environment is adapted to include and support the child with a SEND.

HOW ACCESSIBLE IS THE SCHOOL?

The school is fully accessible to wheelchairs. The accessibility policy and plan (available on the school webpage) outlines the steps that the school is taking to make the environment increasingly accessible to all. All new developments within the school are fully accessible.

HOW WILL THE SETTING
PREPARE & SUPPORT
MY CHILD / YOUNG PERSON TO JOIN THE
NEXT STAGE OF EDUCATION & LIFE?

The school will arrange additional transition meetings and sessions with high schools or a change of educational setting for pupils with a SEND.

Information regarding individual children's needs will be passed onto new class teachers and a meeting will be held to discuss the support and interventions that are in place with parents and children being included in the process from start to end.

All children are prepared for the next stages of education regardless of additional needs through carefully organise transition activities for children with an EHCP the EHCP annual review in year five begins the process where parents are supported to make decisions regarding secondary education.

How will our child and young person be involved in the decisions about their learning?

The school uses pupil passports to map out the additional support each child will receive. The support is put in place after consultation with parents and outside agencies. The pupil passport is written by the class teacher and the child with a SEND. The Pupil passport is child centered outlining the child's strengths and is given a theme which is chosen by the child.

How will parents be involved in the decisions about the learning of their child/ young person?

All decisions made about children with a SEND must be supported and signed for by parents or guardians. Parents are invited into the school three times a year (in addition to parent consultations) to contribute to and discuss their child's pupil passport. During this meeting, teachers will offer advice in how to best support your child at home. This is all in addition to the daily open-door policy held by the school.

How are parents involved in the setting? How can I be involved?

The school encourages parents to keep strong links between the school and home. Parents will be expected to complete additional home learning to support the needs of the child fully. We have many opportunities for families to be involved in school life. We frequently organise parent involvement sessions where parents, carers and grandparents can come into the school and work with their child.

We have parent sessions where parents, carers and grandparents can come into the school and gain a greater insight into their child's curriculum objectives and strategies/ methods they could provide support with. Parents are encouraged to read at home with their child each night and return the reading diary- this resource allows teachers and parents to stay connected daily and share both concerns and achievements.

What arrangements are in place to support the admission of children with a special educational need or disability?

Children with a SEND are warmly welcomed into the school. Children receiving SEND support are admitted into the school in accordance with the usual admissions criteria which are available on the school website. Induction visits and a graduated timetable will be planned for, if needed alongside the pupil and parents. The school SENCo will also consult with any previous educational establishments, gather SEND files and complete observations in previous settings to support the school in planning support. For children who are looking to gain admission to the school with an EHCP; the school will need to be the named school on the EHCP. This can be requested during the assessment process for an EHCP or at the review stage. St Nicholas C of E Primary School will then explore the individual needs of the child on the EHCP and will offer the local authority an opinion about whether they believe that they can fully meet the child's needs.

The final decision to offer a place lies with the local authority.

What do I do if I want to make a complaint?

St Nicholas C of E Primary School strives to meet the needs of all pupils with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities but there may be a time when you think that this is not the case.

Parents can access further support through Early Help and Family support. This can be accessed by contacting the school Safeguarding Leads (Mrs. Shearer or Mrs. Spike) on 01963 362308.

Where can I access further information about the provision offered for children with a SEND at the school?

The Local Authority has set up a Local Offer webpage which gives children and young people with special educational needs or disabilities and their families information about what support services are available in their local area. Please follow the link below for the Somerset's Local Offer:

Somerset's Local Offer

HOW ARE THE SETTING'S RESOURCES ALLOCATED AND MATCHED TO CHILD'S / YOUNG PERSON'S SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS?

Support staff are allocated to need not just to match classes. If there are several children in a class with high need then more support staff will be allocated to that class.

Class arrangements are fluid to change with the needs of the children. Advice on the best provision for pupils is sought from agencies involved and parents.

Resources can then be allocated and additional purchased if needed.

The school uses the graduated approach to supporting children.

Access, Plan, Do Review (APDR) cycle. In most cases, the school will use up to two cycles of support to try and meet the needs of pupils. Sometimes, two cycles of APDR of support is not enough, at this point the school will seek further advice.

This may then result in an application for an Educational, Health and Care plan (EHCP).

HOW IS THE DECISION MADE ABOUT WHAT TYPE AND HOW MUCH SUPPORT MY CHILD / YOUNG PERSON WILL RECEIVE?

Support is monitored carefully to ensure that provision provided and suggested is supporting the child appropriately through parent review meetings, assessments and in class observations.
